Groundbreaking Success...

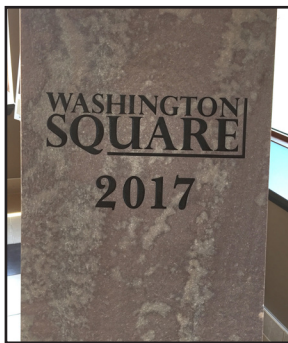

City and community leaders at the groundbreaking praised the project for the contribution it will make downtown.

"This building is groundbreaking for Sioux Falls in a different way, adding a new chapter to the history of great buildings in our downtown," Sioux Falls Development Foundation president Slater Barr said.

City planning department director Mike Cooper called Washington Square "the first true mixed use project for downtown Sioux Falls. This is truly going to be a landmark building for downtown Sioux Falls. When people come downtown to look at what we have to offer, don't be surprised if they come down here to look at Washington Square."

A beautiful day and an estimated crowd of around 250 helped celebrate this exciting milestone for Sioux Falls.

The cornerstone was proudly unveiled and remains on display.
